About Marine Watch

Project Kraken is a national police initiative endorsed by The Association of Chief Police Officers (ACPO) designed to increase awareness and enhance engagement within the UK's maritime communities and to help improve the identification and reporting of crime and suspicious behaviour.

The Metropolitan Police Marine Policing Unit coordinates a Marine Watch Scheme as part of Project Kraken.

With our partners from other police forces, Port of London Authority, Environment Agency and Canal & River Trust we want to identify and reduce crime and other problems that may affect maritime communities.

Together we can make a difference

How it Works

Marine watch is a registration scheme that encourages all enforcement agencies to work together with communities to make our rivers and waterways safe for all by identifying suspicious behaviour and reducing reduce crime and anti-social activity.

If you own a boat, live or work on the Thames or one of London's many canals and other rivers, Project Kraken Marine Watch encourages you to register with the scheme either as an individual, or as part of a community group or watch
